

Athens Services' Online Guide Takes the Mystery Out of Recycling

“What Goes Where” Guide Makes Recycling Easier

January 14, 2022 - What should I do with plastic grocery bags? Are chopsticks recyclable? What container does my restaurant's food waste go into? These are just some of the common recycling questions residents and businesses face daily.

Athens Services has a new online tool to help find the answers: What Goes Where. This comprehensive, easy-to-use recycling guide will help residents and businesses learn how to properly recycle or dispose of more than 350 items.

The guide is an interactive zero waste source for putting waste and recycling material in the right containers. Under California's new SB 1383 regulation, waste, recycling, and organics waste (including green waste and now food waste) must go in separate containers. What Goes Where has the information in an easy-to-find format.

Users select Residential or Business & Multi-Units 5+, then select their city to find items and information on how to properly dispose of them. The guide also includes tips on how to reduce waste, such as buying in bulk and buying reusable items.

Athens developed the What Goes Where guide in partnership with Recyclist, a California-based startup that provides communications solutions for solid waste and recycling. The guide is Athens' latest step toward achieving zero waste in our communities. Together, we can create a safe, healthy, and sustainable environment.

Recyclist creates cloud-based solutions that make solid waste program management easy. Founded in Truckee, California, the triple-bottom-line company designs websites and software to empower citizens, government and business with the information they need to move our world toward a more sustainable future.

Athens Services is a recycling and waste diversion leader in Southern California. Family-owned and operated since 1957, Athens was founded on the simple principle of providing exceptional service, by hiring and developing great people, while fostering a safe, healthy, and sustainable environment; that's The Athens Way. Today, Athens Services teams up with local communities, as well as private institutions and government agencies, as their zero waste partner.
